

NO BULL RADIO: Scott Connelly, Shaun Assael, and Eric Broser

Contributed by Dave Palumbo
Monday, 22 October 2007

Met-Rx inventor Dr. Scott Connelly is back with a new line of supplements called Progenex. Find out what why he disappeared from the industry he called home for almost 10 years and get the inside scoop on all his new groundbreaking projects.

ESPN staff writer, Shaun Assael, stops by No Bull Radio and discusses his new book, Steroid Nation. Shaun shares some of the best stories about the original Steroid Guru, Dan Duchaine, and all his cohorts of the 80's and 90's. Also, find out how The Muscle Mob's very own John Romano fits into the story.

And, you won't want to miss a special appearance by new MD staff writer Eric Broser. Find out how a grass roots effort on the MD Message Boards turned into a new job for this Pro Natural Bodybuilder.

REMEMBER, "You never know who'll stop by with The Muscle Mob!"
